

Definition Document for the Model Publication Scheme for Principal Local Authorities
(County Councils, Unitary Authorities, District Councils, Metropolitan District Councils, the Council of the Isles of Scilly)

This guidance gives examples of the kinds of information that it would be good practice for councils to provide. The guidance is not meant to give a definitive list. It strongly indicates, however, the minimum information we would expect councils to make available (unless they don't hold that particular information). Councils should also provide as much information as they have within each class of information.

Where councils have responsibilities that in other areas are managed by specific authorities, for example a port health authority, fire services or museum services, they should also consult any guidance we may produce for these bodies.

It is occasionally the case that some activities of a council are managed and organised by a body that is separate to and to a large degree independent of it. Where these bodies are established with a legal identity of their own, the publication scheme of the public authority will not cover information held by the separate organisation. However, where the functions are carried out within the public authority, the publication scheme of the public authority will cover information in relation to these functions. For example, where in a metropolitan area the Pension Fund is managed through one of the councils by a management board, the activities of that board should be considered for the purposes of the publication scheme as part of the local authority. The same approach is required for the services of, for example, Port Health Authorities, Fire Services or Harbour Authorities where these are provided by a local authority. So where there is reference in the publication scheme and this guidance to information held or produced by the council, it will extend to similar information held or produced by these internal bodies. It may be that the development of guidance about what information is to be published under the scheme will be delegated to these internal bodies, but it will remain the responsibility of the council to ensure that information is made available in accordance with the publication scheme.

Who we are and what we do

Organisational information, structures, locations and contacts.

We would expect information in this class to be current information only.

- Council constitution

The council's constitution consists of a number of documents that, under the Local Government Act 2000, are required to be brought together and made available for public inspection. The articles of the constitution set out the basic principles that underlie the way the council operates. The other parts of the constitution would normally include details of the council and the committees to which the council has delegated various powers and the functions that are the responsibility of the executive; the terms of reference of the various committees and other bodies; the standing orders that regulate the proceedings at meetings; financial regulations; the code of practice for the procurement of works, supplies and services; codes of conduct for members and employees; the schedule for the payment of member's allowances; and a description of the management structure of the council's workforce.

- Council democratic structure

Any further information not included in the constitution about the decision making bodies of the council and their role.

- Council directorate structure

Any further information about the internal structures of the offices of the council, including an outline of their responsibilities and the names of the directors. Staffing structure of the directorates and departments should be included.

- Location and opening times of council properties

Councils should be considering whether details of all their properties, whether open to the public or not, are available to the public under this scheme. Obviously, the public need to have readily available the location and opening times of offices that are open to them.

- Currently elected councillors' information and contact details

Any personal information should be published only with consent. The essentials are names, positions on the council and how they can be contacted.

- Contact details for all customer-facing departments

Local authorities should already be publishing as much information as possible about how they can be contacted. This should give some indication at least of the role of the contact, phone number and where used e mail address. It always assists to provide a named contact where this can be done.

- Most recent election results

The results of the most recent elections for councillors on the council should be available. Councils may also wish to include the results of other elections conducted in the area.

- Relationships with other authorities

It will assist members of the public to appreciate the role of a local authority if the respective roles of different local authorities are explained, partnership arrangements with other authorities are detailed and the relationship with central government departments is outlined. Where local authority services are provided in a particular area by a joint or combined authority, for example port health, fire, waste disposal, passenger transport authority, the situation should be explained with an indication of how to contact those bodies. Where a local authority has responsibility for the provision of facilities for office holders who are not themselves part of the local authority, for example the Returning Officer, the Registrar of Births Deaths and Marriages, the role of the local authority should be explained. The role of the Monitoring Officer in respect of his own and other councils should be included.

What we spend and how we spend it

Financial information about projected and actual income and expenditure, procurement, contracts and financial audit.

We would expect information in this class to be available at least for the current and previous two financial years.

We would expect information to be available not only for the council as a whole but also for directorates or departments as cost centres.

- Financial statements, budgets and variance reports

Financial information in enough detail to allow the public to see where money is being spent, where a council or department is or has been planning to spend it, and the difference between the two. Financial information should be published at least annually and, where practical, we would also expect half yearly or quarterly financial reports to be provided. Revenue budgets and budgets for capital expenditure should be included.

- Capital programme

Information should be made available on major plans for capital expenditure including any private finance initiative and public-private partnership contracts.

- Spending reviews
- Financial audit reports
- The members' allowances scheme and the allowances paid under

it to councillors each year

The total of the allowances and expenses paid to councillors by reference to categories. These categories should be produced in line with council guidelines and will be under headings like travel, subsistence and accommodation.

- Staff allowances and expenses

Details of the allowances and expenses that can be claimed. It should include the total of the allowances and expenses paid to individual senior staff members by reference to categories. These categories should be produced in line with the council's policies, practices and procedures and will be under headings like travel, subsistence and accommodation.

- Pay and grading structure

This may be provided as part of the organisational structure and should indicate, for most posts, levels of pay rather than individual salaries.

- Election expenses (returns or declarations and accompanying documents relating to election expenses sent to the council)
- Procurement procedures

Details of procedures for acquiring goods and services. Contracts available for public tender.

- Details of contracts currently being tendered
- List of contracts awarded and their value

We would normally expect the council to publish only contracts that are large enough to have gone through formal tendering.

- District auditor's report
- Financial statements for projects and events

If there are identifiable projects, we would expect the publication scheme to cover at least the financial reports that indicate actual expenditure against original project budgets. The larger the project, the greater the detail that should be available. Similarly, where organised events are publicised, their cost should be available through the scheme.

- Internal financial regulations
- Funding for partnership arrangements

Where the council takes the lead role in a partnership arrangement, we would expect details of the funding arrangements for the partnership to be available. Where a council contributes funding to a partnership arrangement managed by another authority, we would expect details of the funding provided to be published.

What our priorities are and how we are doing

Strategies and plans, performance indicators, audits, inspections and reviews.

We would expect information in this class to be available at least for the current and previous three years. Information should be available not only for the council as a whole but also for directorates or departments where this is available.

Below is a list of the type of information we would expect councils to have readily available for publication. Any other reports or recorded information showing the council's planned or actual performance should normally be included.

- Annual reports
- Strategies and business plans for services provided by the council
- Best value local performance plan
- Internal and external organisation performance reviews
- Strategies developed in partnership with other authorities

Examples would include community partnership strategies, safety and crime reduction strategies, road safety strategy, joint housing strategies, joint strategies for health issues and children's services.

- Economic development action plan
- Forward plan
- Capital strategy
- Best value performance indicators
- District auditor's reports on the best value performance plan and performance indicators
- Comprehensive performance assessment
- Inspection reports
- Local Area Agreements
- Statistical information produced in accordance with the council's and departmental requirements
- Impact assessments
- Service standards
- Public service agreements

How we make decisions

Decision-making processes and records of decisions.

We would expect information in this class to be available at least for the current and previous three years.

- Timetable of council meetings
- Agendas, officers' reports, background papers and

minutes of council committee, sub committee and standing forum meetings

This will be the information that is required to be publicly available under local authority access to information rules.

- Major policy proposals and decisions

Information that can be made available to the public without damaging internal policy development and relations with other public authorities.

- Facts and analyses of facts considered when framing major policies
- Public consultations

Details of consultation exercises with access to the consultation papers or information about where the papers can be obtained. The results and outcomes of consultation exercises.

- Internal communications guidance, criteria used for decision-making, internal instructions, manuals and guidelines

If access to internal instructions, manuals and guidelines for dealing with the business of the council would help the public understand how decisions are made, these should be readily available. We would not expect information that might damage the council's operations to be revealed.

Our policies and procedures

Current written protocols, policies and procedures for delivering our services and responsibilities.

We would expect information in this class to be current information only.

Some of the information about policies and procedures will be covered by the council's constitution.

- Policies and procedures for conducting council business

Codes of practice, memoranda of understanding, procedural standing orders, internal guidance about the division of responsibilities between committees and delegated authority, policies on communications between councillors and members of staff and similar information should be included.

- Policies and procedures for delivering our services

Including local area agreement memoranda and policies and procedures for handling information requests.

- Policies and procedures about the recruitment and employment of staff

If vacancies are advertised as part of recruitment policies, details of current vacancies will be readily available.

A number of policies, for example, equality and diversity, and health and safety, will cover both the provision of services and the employment of staff.

- Customer service

Standards for providing services to the council's customers, including the complaint procedure. Complaints procedures will include those covering requests for information and operating the publication scheme.

- Records management and personal data policies

This will include information security policies, records retention, destruction and archive policies, and data protection (including data sharing) policies.

- Charging regimes and policies

Details of any statutory charging regimes should be provided. Charging policies should include charges made for information routinely published. They should clearly state what costs are to be recovered, the basis on which they are made, and how they are calculated.

Lists and registers

We would expect information in this class to be current information only.

- Public registers and registers held as public records

If a council is required to maintain any register and make the information in it available for public inspection, the existing provisions covering access will usually be adequate. However, we expect authorities to publicise which public registers they hold, and how the information in them is to be made available to the public. Where registers contain personal information, councils must ensure that they consider the data protection principles.

- Asset registers and information asset register

We would not expect councils to publish all details from all asset registers. We would expect some information from capital asset registers to be available. If a council has prepared an information asset register for the Re-use of Public Sector Information Regulations 2005, it should publish the contents.

- Disclosure logs

If a council produces a disclosure log indicating the information provided in response to requests, it should be readily available. Disclosure logs are recommended as good practice.

- Register of councillors' financial and other interests
- Register of gifts and hospitality
- Highways, licensing, planning, commons, footpaths etc
- Register of electors

Services provided by the council

Information about the services the council provides including leaflets, guidance and newsletters.

We would expect information in this class to be current information only.

Generally this is an extension of part of the first class of information. While the first class provides information on a council's and its departments' roles and responsibilities, this class includes details of the services the council provides as a result of them. The starting point would normally be a list or lists of the services the council is responsible for, linked to details of these services.

Not all local authorities will provide all services.

- Regulatory and licensing responsibilities
- Services for local businesses
- Services for other organisations
- Services for members of the public
- Services for which the council is entitled to recover a fee, together with those fees
- Information for visitors to the area, leisure information, events, museums, libraries and archive collections
- Leaflets, booklets and newsletters
- Advice and guidance
- Media releases

We would expect to see, for example, details of the services:

- that County Councils provide for such things as waste disposal, education and children's services, public transport, fire services, trading standards;
  - that District Councils provide for such things as environmental health, housing and council tax benefits, council tax collection, planning (development control), building control, waste collection and recycling, port health, role of the monitoring officer;
  - that unitary authorities provide across the whole range of local authority services.
- Election information

We recognise that the offices of the Returning Officer and of the Electoral Registration Officer are separate to the functions of local authorities. Information held by a local authority on behalf of these two officers is not currently covered by the Freedom of Information Act. However, much of the information about elections is also held by local authorities themselves and we would expect to see most of this made available through the publication scheme. By way of example this would include: forthcoming elections, election results, review of polling stations, information on becoming a councillor, voting procedures.
